Subject: Microsoft Settlement

The settlement offers of late on the Microsoft trial are:

- * laughably inadequate to protect the consumer's interest
- * a miscarriage of justice given Microsoft has been found guilty
- * will only serve to harm consumers going forward
- * will set a terrible precedent for the children of America about the rule of law and consequences of playing dirty

Please do the right thing and consider the morality of the case foremost over the incredible corrupting power Microsoft represents, and come up with a punishment more in line with the crime(s).

Thank you,

Jonathan Weeks
